

Yukon Geological Survey Planning Workshop

April 3, 2019, Gold Rush Inn, Whitehorse

Every five years Yukon Geological Survey holds a planning workshop to identify gaps in our geoscience knowledge base, discuss trends that could lead to new areas of research, and take a critical look at the information and data the Survey disseminates.

The next 5-year workshop will be held in Whitehorse at the Gold Rush Inn (Town Hall and General Store meeting rooms) on April 3, 2019. It will consist of a series of thematic break-out sessions; clients are welcome to participate for the entire day, or can attend one or more selected sessions based on their interests.

	Town Hall	General Store
9:00	Introduction & instructions to participants
9:30	Regional Geology Breakout session	Minerals Geology Breakout session	Placer Breakout session
12:00	Lunch Break (Town Hall Room)
12:45	Regional Geology Breakout session	Minerals Geology Breakout session	Geotech Breakout session	Community Engagement session
4:30	Reconvene for discussion & wrap-up

Topics to be covered in each of the breakout sessions include the following:

1. Regional Geology: bedrock mapping and thematic studies; surficial mapping; geophysics; energy
2. Minerals Geology: YGS-industry liaison; MINFILE; metallogeny; mineral assessments; Core Library services
3. Placer: YGS-industry liaison; placer research; wetlands studies
4. Geotechnical studies: permafrost; geo-hazards; aggregate
5. Community engagement: geoscience education; First Nation liaison

If you would like to attend, please contact YGS at geology@gov.yk.ca.